President's Message:

Welcome to the inaugural year of the American Society of Safety Professionals! We are all excited with the new name change and ready to embrace change across the board, but maintain our consistency in areas where we've succeeded in the past. Last year, we focused on getting experts in specific areas and "hot topics" for our Technical and PDC meetings and events. We are going to continue that focus moving forward. What we do want, as always, is commitment from our members. The ASSP of Wisconsin is continually growing, but we always want to see new faces and meet other within our professional network. As a member, you will be getting a survey call sometime in September regarding our Technical Meeting times, locations, topics, etc. They will be coming from volunteers at UW-Whitewater who are in the Student Safety Organization and members of ASSP Wisconsin Student Chapter. Please be honest, as we as board members want to best serve you. As always, we welcome anybody to attend our board meetings or volunteer in other areas to help us put on our events. I am looking forward to this upcoming year, and hope to see as many of you at our meetings.

2018 Future Safety Leaders Conference

Attention Students: Attend the 2018 Future Safety Leaders Conference

ASSP is seeking motivated, energized students for the 14th annual Future Safety Leaders Conference slated to run Nov. 8-9 in Oak Brook, IL. Perfect for student members who are ready to transition from campus life to the workplace, the conference is a great opportunity to develop the tools needed for a successful career in safety.

At the conference, students can:

- connect with representatives from OSH employers, OSH professionals and peers;
- engage in dynamic presentations and sessions;
- enhance career development skills;
- explore options for advanced degrees and certifications.

All ASSP student members can apply to attend by completing the student application and essay form and submitting it to a student section faculty. Students must deliver their applications to faculty advisors by Sept. 6, 2018. Faculty advisors must submit the attendee selection worksheet by Sept. 13, 2018.

Students are responsible for all transportation costs, while ASSP pays for the two-night hotel stay. Some local chapters offer scholarships to attend the conference so be sure to speak to your faculty advisor or local chapter officers to find out more.

Visit the event web page to learn more or contact ASSP's Student Services team.

SAFETY 2018

San Antonio, TX

The signature event of the American Society of Safety Professionals (ASSP) continues to grow in popularity. Final numbers from ASSP's Safety 2018 Professional Development Conference & Exposition show that 8,641 people took part in the June event, surpassing the organization's previous record crowd in Denver last year. With 5,778 registered attendees and 2,863 exhibitor representatives on hand in San Antonio, it remains America's largest conference for occupational safety and health professionals.

"We're proud to be a leader in providing professional development for the occupational safety and health professional, whether that person is a member, non-member or newcomer to the industry," said ASSP President Rixio Medina, CSP, ASP, and CPP. "Our global event shares key case studies and new techniques every year along with vast networking opportunities that can help advance your career."

ASSP's Safety 2019 Professional Development Conference and Exposition is set for June 9-12 in New Orleans. The Ernest N. Morial Convention Center along the Mississippi River features the nation's largest contiguous-space exhibit hall that provides 1.1 million square feet of exhibit space. The world-class facility is a short walk from the city's famous French Quarter and historic St. Charles streetcar line.

Groups planning to attend Safety 2019 can save on the entire conference. To learn about group offers, please contact ASSP group coordinator Nancy O'Toole at notoole@assp.org.
